BUSY PREPARING FOR OBSERVANCE OF PAY-UP WEEK

Charleroi Merchants Decorating Their Windows Appropriately

STORY OF WINFIELD TOLD

First work on the campaign for the enthusiastic observance in Charleroi of the National Pay-up-Week is showing forth in windows of merchants and business offices of Charleroi. Artistic ideas are being carried out in window decoration through the use of posters that members of the Charleroi Business Men's Association secured. Posters contain descriptive wording like. "I'll pay my bills so you can have money to pay yours," Stickers are being used by merchants on packages and a general campaign is going on. One day this week special advertising matter will be issued by the Mail in booming Pay-up week, many of the best known merchants having reserved space.

Elsewhere the movement is growing. Winfield, Iowa, carried on an experiment during the first National Pay-Up Week and demonstrated to the great surprise of the committee, which had it in charge, what one five dollar bill will do when it is kept on moving paying up debts. This five dollar bill was marked with a slip of paper stating, "This is a Pay-Up Week five dollar bill. This five dollar bill is to be used only for payment of accounts. Accept it and go at once and pay some one else Sign your name so we can see how many dollars in accounts it will pay in one week." At the end of the week the bill was found, the names counted and to the surprise of the committee, fifty eight names had been signed, showing that the total debts paid were $290.00.

Commissioners Claim Bridge Not Neglected

In their defense of a damage suit instituted by William Hayden who claims $10,000 damages for injuries sustained when a bridge broke down in Peters township, the county commissioners deny that they neglected properly to inspect the bridge or properly care for it or had failed to keep it in a safe condition.

It is averred by the commissioners that the plaintiff admits himself that he had knowledge that the bridge had been in bad repair for several years, and therefore the accident was due to his recklessness and indifference to the danger. At the time Mr. Hayden was injured he was driving a wagon loaded with oil well supplies. When the bridge broke down he was injured somewhat.

STATE POLICE ENLISTING MEN

Western Troops Find it Necessary to Add Many New Men to Commands

NUMBERS LOST TO SERVICE

More enlistments are being made for the two western troops of the state police this fall than have been known in many months, railroads and industrial corporations having snapped up men whose enlistments expired for service on the police forces and for training of men to act as guards Almost every month from 10 to 15 men have to be enlisted to fill up the vacancies, some of which were caused in the summer by regular army men who were in reserve going back to their regiments.

Most of the assignments of new men have been made to the Greensburg and Butler troops and it is estimated that about 30 per cent of the men of the Butler troop are new in a little over a year. The officials of the state police force have been striving to keep up the force and have been able to secure quite a number of men who had served in the Army, Navy and Marine Corps, as well as National Guardsmen.

WINTER AND SUMMER ARE JOINED IN HOLY WEDLOCK

Miss Louise Reighard, formerly visiting nurse at Donora and well known here was married last week at Bloomsburg, Pa., to Leander H. Matthews of Pittsburg. In speaking of the wedding the Bloomburg Morning Press says: "Winter and summer were delightfully joined in wedlock, the groom being 70 years of age and the bride 38." They will make their home at Sunny Hill near Leetsdale, where Mr. Matthews is secretary and treasurer of the Watson Memorial Home for Crippled Children, which was established by the late D. T. Watson, Esq.

CONTINUED RISE IN BREAD PRICES BRINGS TROUBLE

Bakers Plead Justification Because of Increased Cost of Production—Federal Government Starts Investigation—Local People Affected

Charleroi residents may be paying six cents a loaf instead of five cents a loaf for bread after October 2, or else paying five cents for a smaller sized loaf, as a result of the announcement of a general increase in bread prices issued by big baking firms in Pittsburg. Monongahela valley bakeries have not taken action yet, but there is a likelihood, states a baker, that they will. Yet the advance will be met with general opposition.

Bakers maintain that increased prices are their only recourse. Present high cost of flour, with increased cost of labor and materials make it impossible, they say to bake the regular size five cent loaf. There has heretofore been a noticeable decrease in the size of the loaves.

While bakers are contemplating a general increase every possible unit of federal machinery is being set in motion at Washington to meet and deal with the situation. Through the federal trade commission and the department of justice the national government will begin at once a county wide survey of bread prices to determine whether the real cause of the continued increase is legitimate and to remove it if it is not A flood of complaints and petitions setting forth the advance in bread prices, is swamping various governmental departments.

JEWISH NEW YEAR TO BEGIN HOLIDAY SEASON

Tomorrow to be Celebrated at First Holiday of Season—New Year Followed by Ten Days of Penitence—Is Solemn Occasion

Sundown Wednesday, September 27, the first day of the Jewish month Tishri, will mark the beginning of the Jewish High Holidays. These holidays of deep religious significance, will commence with the feast of Rosh Hashanah, or New Year. The New Year will be followed by ten days of Penitence, which reach their climax in the Day of Atonement, October 7th.

On the New Year all the inhabitants of the earth pass before Him as sheep before a shepherd." In these words the ancient Jewish law book, the Mishna, refers to the significance of this day It is a day of Judgement when the sins and the merits of all men are weighed by the Divine Judge. The Talmud tells that in this annual New Year's Judgment scene, three books lie open before the Most High.

In one book, the Book of Life, the names of the perfectly righteous, the sinless, are inscribed; the second book, the book of death has recorded in it the names of the utterly wicked; and the third book is for the ordinary "middle type" of men in whose behalf judgment is suspended through the ten days of penitence, until the Day of Atonement when the decision is finally made and recorded.

The services for the day are especially solemn. Prayers in prose and poetry, dwelling upon the theme of God's Judgment of man, are recited and sung. The Ram's horn, the "Shofar," summoning men to prayer and repentance is sounded in all synagogs. At the close of the service the worshippers greet each other with the words "May you be written down for a good year."

Orthodox Jews observe many ceremonies which suggest the ideas and emotions of the day. In the home honey fruits are eaten and the pious wish expressed "May it be Thy will to renew to us a good and sweet year." During the day orthodox Jews will go to a river, shake crumbs from their clothes and recite among other prayers the verse from Micah, "And you will cast into the depths of the sea all their sins." While orthodox Jews observe September 27 and 28 this year, Reform Jews return to the ancient Palestinian custom and observe but one day.

MONON. RIVER CAPTAIN TAKES HIGH POSITION

Thomas M. Axton of West Brownsville Leaves For New Orleans to Take Position of Transportation Manager for Crescent City Coal

For 17 years a pilot and captain on the Monongahela river, Thomas M. Axton of West Brownsville leaves this evening for New Orleans, where he has accepted a position with the Crescent City Coal company. Mr. Axton is 50 years of age and was born and reared in West Brownsville. He has been steamboating the whole of his career. He is well acquainted along the entire Monongahela river, Ohio and down the Mississippi to the Sound.

The new position pays a large salary to begin with, also a guarantee of advancement with experience. It requires a responsible river man who is not afraid of work.

The Crescent City Coal company has five large steamboats and tugs. The mines are located along the Warrior river in Alabama and the coal is taken down the Warrior river, thence through the Alabama river to Mobile Bay, or to New Orleans. The company retain sales offices in either city. The company is operated and controlled entirely by southern capitalists. They dispose of the coal by supplying large ocean going liners.

The steamboat Darling, known along the Monongahela river is now owned by this company. Mr. Axton will have an office in Mobile and also in New Orleans. Mr. Axton's mother will remain in West Brownsville this winter.

Ministers Against Politics in Church

At a recent meeting of the Donora Ministerial association, action was taken on the question of political meetings being held in the various churches and a resolution was adopted in which the ministers went on record as opposed to the use of Protestant church buildings for holding political meetings.

May Stop Road Activity From Labor Shortage

Scarcity of labor and the high wages paid to laborers are causing much talk among the home contractors of Fayette county. They were discussing plans for closing down work on roads that have been commenced and which cannot be completed before cold weather sets in.

The regular wages for road laborers is 25 cents an hour. When men begin to travel some contractors have raised the price to $3 per day, while another makes an offer of $3.15 a day. Contractors state they took the work when there was not any labor trouble and the increase in wages has cut their profit in twain.

MEDICAL TESTS ARE THOROUGH

First Class School Districts Busy—Not Compelled in Charleroi

PARALYSIS TROUBLE FEARED

Pittsburg and other school districts of the first class in Pennsylvania are completing their medical examination of school pupils, this year made especially thorough by reason of the fear of a further development of infantile paralysis.

In the third class districts, which includes Charleroi, Monongahela, Donora and Monessen among similar sized districts, medical examination is optional. Inasmuch as there have been no new cases reported in any of these boroughs, there probably will be no medical inspection before the beginning of school next Friday.

In Pittsburg 18,000 of the 110,000 children were examined by the physicians in charge Monday, without any trace of the disease being found.

Mr. Keenan, who was in his 70th year, had been ill for several years and was a proficient workman. Surviving are his widow and the following children, Robert at home, William, and John of Duquesne, Mrs. Ward Hendershot, of Charleroi, Mrs. Katherine Cauthorn of Wellsburg, W. Va., together with two sisters Mrs. Anna Fairman of Elizabeth and Mrs. Jennie Thursby of Pittsburg.

LARGE NUMBER OF TEACHERS AT INSTITUTE

County Sessions Open at Washington—Many From Valley Attending

VAUGHAN IS SOLOIST TODAY

With nearly 800 teachers and prospective teachers present the first session of the annual teachers' institute of Washington county was opened Monday afternoon at Washington. Many were present from the townships surrounding Charleroi and nearby boroughs which come under the jurisdiction of the county school authorities.

The address of welcome was delivered to the visitors by Dr. L. D. Sargent of Washington and responded to by Prof. W. H. Donaldson of Burgettstown. Prof. H. L. Beeler of Chicago, an instructor and lecturer of national reputation made his initial appearance in the afternoon speaking on "The Adolescent Boy and Girl."

Dr. George H. Tapy of Crawfordsville, Ind., delivered an address on "The Third and Fourth Generation." Musical features were songs by the teachers under the direction of Prof. T. L. Gibson, leader in music, and violin solos by Emil Hoyaux of Pittsburg.

This morning addresses were made by Dr. O. L. Warren, Prof. L. H. Beeler and Dr. George H. Tapy. A musical feature of this afternoon of particular interest to the valley teachers will be a solo by Walter Vaughan the widely known local singer.

Very few teachers are absent from any of the county districts. North Charleroi district had one absentee.

PHILIP PLUMMER, AGED COURTLEY RESIDENT DIES

Well Known Man Born in England, Coming Here at Early Age—Family of Nine Survives

Phillip Plummer, an aged resident of Courtney, died Sunday night. Funeral services will be held at the late home Wednesday morning at 10:30 o'clock and interment will be in the Monongahela cemetery.

Mr. Plummer was born in England, February 21, 1836, the son of George and Sarah Gould Plummer. He came to this country when about 21 years of age and settled in Courtney. In 1860 he married Miss Cornelia Orr, to which union nine children were born. All are living, as follows: Mrs. W. C. McCallister and Mrs. Kent C. WASHING DISHES

Dr. Samuel G. Dixon's latest is a talk about hygienic dish washing. As usually is the case he hues pretty close to the line in giving good advice that is appreciated more in public eating place where much help has to be employed at rush hours than it does anywhere else. Dr. Dixon says:

Common tasks are dirty mainly because they are common. For example washing dishes. Everybody may not wash dishes, but they eat from dishes that someone has washed.

To properly cleanse dishes and eating utensils, they should be washed and rinsed in boiling water. Washing in lukewarm water, even with soap, is not sufficient.

There are numerous communicable diseases caused by germs which are present in the mouths of those who are afflicted. People in the various stages of tuberculosis, diphtheria, syphilis, etc., may transfer disease germs from their mouths to eating utensils. Unless these are sterilized by boiling water, they are a source of danger to whoever may use them subsequently.

Forks in particular, because of their construction are difficult to cleanse thoroughly and should be washed with care.

In public eating houses, exceptional attention should be given to the sterilization of eating utensils and drinking glasses. Care in the choice and preparation of food is easily offset by careless handling of the service.

WILL MAKE THE WELKIN RING

Pittsburg Republicans propose to make the welkin ring on Wednesday of this week when Charles E. Hughes comes to that city to deliver the only speech he promises to make in this state during the campaign.

Gov. Hughes has been received with wild acclaim by the Republicans throughout Indiana and Ohio where he has been campaigning for a week, but the Pittsburg Republicans propose to give him the biggest and best meeting so far addressed by him since the pending campaign opened.

A monster street parade will be but one of the attractions of the Pittsburg meeting. The old time marching club spirit has been aroused and clubs are being formed in every section of the big city to have a part in the denomination. Clubs from adjoining boroughs and towns are arranging to help along with a view to making the Hughes reception the most brilliant and impressive of the contest.

Western Pennsylvania Republicans have an intense interest in the Republican policies of protection and substantial and general prosperity. This interest is widespread and that concern alone is certain to make the Pittsburg reception to the next president a glittering success.

The Republican county of Allegheny is already on its toes in a determination to impress the world that Republican success is necessary to general prosperity.

RED-BLOODED BOYS.

After reading of the Donora's boy's death from injuries received in a drop from a stately oak which he had climbed for acorns, the "I-told-you-so's" are likely to run riot.

Of course the boy shouldn't have climbed that tree—we think so now since he is dead. He wouldn't have climbed it had he seriously pictured himself a corpse. Still who is there to blame him, for what red-blooded American lives who cannot recall from his own boyhood days risks he took that would shame ordinary tree climbing for real danger. Boys, real boys, grow healthy on thrills.

The tragedy at Donora is indeed regrettable. So is every tragedy. Probably it has its lesson, as all tragedies seem to have, but it is not that boys must be less red-blooded Americans.

WHAT OTHERS THINK

THE HUMAN COST.

The great war has been going on so long and the world has become so accustomed to the horror of it that little account is taken of the staggering loss it has entailed. Only when there is a review of the sum total of misery is a proper appreciation possible of what it all has meant. Such a review has been made by a Danish society which has followed the casualties from the beginning and has just issued a statement giving the casualties up to August 1, or for two years of the conflict. The total [illegible] number [illegible] have been killed [illegible] soldiers of every nation [illegible] 22,000,000.

[illegible] the [illegible] grasp [illegible] the [illegible] [illegible] The [illegible] effect that [illegible] might they [illegible] [illegible] would have [illegible] picture of untold [illegible] for [illegible] to come, and if [illegible] that [illegible] [illegible] out. For it is not possible that the experiences of those [illegible] who have suffered more keenly as individuals than in the general suffering that is the inevitable result of any war, shall not be [illegible] to their children. Many stories have been told of the griefs suffered by non-combatants, those unspeakable griefs that have gone with war throughout the ages. Mothers who have experienced such sorrow will transmit the resentment to their children. And so the generations will pay.

There is, too, that army of the helpless that every nation will have to support for the rest of the army's life. The halt and the blind will be making their slow way through life a shocking evidence of the cost of ambition and the desire for vengeance. It is interesting to note Austria's share of the price. She sought to punish a nation because a crazed youth shot down two of her royalties. She has lost 2,893,250 men, of whom 523,125 have been killed and 1,775,125 wounded. A staggering price, it must be admitted for the assertion of power—and that assertion not yet borne out. And when the total price is figured, what has the world to show for all the misery—Pittsburg Dispatch.

AUTOMOBILE SPEEDING

Recent accidents on the River road will be followed by others unless automobilists and motorcyclists exercise more care than at present. The thoroughfare is used by hundreds of automobile parties nightly and many of them pay absolutely no attention to traffic regulations.

"Safety First" on their calendar of mottoes has been supplanted by "Safety Last." "Take a chance" is their watchword and they are not adverse to compelling the other fellow on the road to share their perilous game

Many careful drivers now shun the River road after nightfall and it will be avoided by a constantly increasing number of automobilists if this reckless operation of cars and motorcycles is permitted to be continued. The glare of unprotected lights and the unregulated speed of the machines that use them are fast making the most useful thoroughfare in this valley impossible for those who have regard for life and limb.—Monessen News.

PICKED UP IN PASSING

"Bull" Brown, famous as an umpire in the old Three-I league, did service at Charleroi Saturday when the Pittsburg Steel Athletics and Steel Products teams played. At one time during the game some of the players of the Steel Athletics questioned a decision and more for the fun of it than anything else Brown answered them back.

"That's not right," they said.

"It is." he grinned.

"No," they shot back.

"Who wins," he shouted as he turned to the game. Those in the grandstand who caught the by-play roaded, and so did the players.

The professor was delivering the last lecture of the term. He told the students with much emphasis that he expected them to devote all their time to preparing for the final examination.

"The examination papers are now in the hands of the printer," he concluded. "Now, is there any questions you would like answered?"

Silence prevailed for a moment, then a voice piped up:

"Who is the printer?"

Let's Pass Prosperity Around

"Our community has joined hands with thousands of other communities in the United States to increase the nation's prosperity and at the same time distribute it so that all will be benefited.

We are all dependent upon each other. No one class can gain at the expense of all the others. The factories cannot run without market for their goods.

"The employees cannot live without this market. The farmer can make no money if there is none to buy his surplus products. As the farmer prospers, all prosper. As other commercial interests of the country prosper, the farmer prospers. We all must look to each other for our livings.

"If we can turn into the channels of business the millions of dollars we all owe each other, so that we can again use these dollars to buy more things we need– every man who is supplying a need will prosper.

"That is the object of NATIONAL PAY UP WEEK, October 2nd to 7th.

"YOU CAN HELP and you can be helped if you pay up during this week. The business men of Charleroi, have pledged themselves to pay their bills at this time. Let's all work together.

"Why It Has Restored My Health So Perfectly That it Seems a Miracle"

"Yes sir, this Tanlac beats anything I have ever before used," declared F. P. Shively, a well-known salesman who lives at 1007 Third St., Juniata, Pa.

"I had no idea it was so good. Why it has restored my health so perfectly that it seems more like a miracle than anything else.

"I had suffered from stomach trouble. My indigestion was all out of sorts. I couldn't eat. Whenever I did try to take anything solid, I would suffer from gas on my stomach and a sickening feeling that lasted for several hours afterward.

"My nerves were also out of gear, and I couldn't sleep sound and restful at night. I would wake up in the morning feeling heavy and languid, and I could scarcely muster up enough energy to get up and dress myself. I seldom ever could eat breakfast.

"After using two bottles of Tanlac my stomach seems in perfect shape, I can eat good and never slept better in all my life. My weight has been increased three pounds by Tanlac. I simply can't get enough to eat now."

Tanlac is now sold in Charleroi exclusively by Piper's Pharmacy, where the premier preparation can be had.

CLAIMS IN DAMAGE SUIT COAL WAS MINED FROM UNDER LAND

E. J. Latour Asks $6,000 For Alleged Unlawful Excavation—Says He Cannot Build on Property

E. J. Latour of Charleroi has filed a suit against F. J. Crombie in which he claims $6.000 damages. The suit is based on the alleged unlawful entry of the defendant upon the plaintiff's land in Charleroi and the opening thereon of a coal mine. The plaintiff avers that he is the owner of a certain parcel of land in this borough, fronting 74 feet on Oakland avenue. It is averred that the defendant, on August 15, 1913, unlawfully entered upon this land, without any right whatever, opened a mine and has mined and removed the coal of the Pittsburg or river vein underlying the same. The plaintiff avers the property has been damaged and made unfit for the erection of buildings thereon.

HE KEPT US OUT OF WHAT WAR?

Disingenuous to Boast That It's Through Any Act of Wilson We Are Out of the European Contest.

RATHER SHOULD BE BLAMED FOR MEXICO BELLIGERENCY

During the Present Administration We Have Seized a Mexican Port and Sent Our Entire Army and Militia to Fight Mexicans While Armed Mexican Forces Have Invaded American Soil and Fought Battles Against Our People.

Sometimes you hear men, sensible men, too, say, "I'm going to vote for Wilson this year because he kept us out of war."

Ask such men a short question. Ask them, "Out of what war?"

Did Mr. Wilson keep us out of the European war? No. He has himself in a formal address to congress spoken of the European war as "a war with which we have nothing to do, a war whose causes do not touch us." How could Mr. Wilson keep us out of a war with which we have nothing to do and whose causes do not touch us?

Did he keep the rest of the western hemisphere out of the European war? No independent nation on this side of the world is involved in it; the only people in it are the colonies of European powers and they had no voice in their fate, for they were automatically at war when their mother governments went to war. Who kept Argentina, Brazil, Chile, Peru, out of the European war? Did Mr. Wilson?

Did Mr. Wilson keep us out of war with Mexico? No. In his term more Americans have been killed by Mexicans and more American property has been destroyed by Mexicans than by Spaniards during the whole Spanish war. In his term we have seized a Mexican port and have sent our entire regular army and militia to fight Mexicans. In his term Mexican armed forces have invaded American soil and fought battles against our people within our boundaries.

President Taft went through two Mexican revolutions during his term, the revolution against Diaz and the revolution against Madero. American lives were safe in Mexico during that time. No Mexican cities were seized by Americans and no armed Mexicans invaded the United States while Mr. Taft was in the White House. Yet Mr. Taft never thought of asking the American people to vote for him because he kept us out of war with Mexico. He put an embargo on arms so that American weapons would not be sent across the boundary, and he refused to interfere in Mexican affairs. When he left office Mexicans liked Americans, and Americans were safe in Mexico. Since he left office Mexicans hate Americans and Americans dare not remain in Mexico. Did Mr. Wilson keep us out of war with Mexico? Not if words mean anything.

Mr. Wilson did not keep us out of the European war, and he did not keep us out of war with Mexico.

Out of what war, then? —Detroit Free Press.

UNITED STATES' HONOR.

Hughes' Criticism of Foreign Policy Approved In West.

[Portland (Ore.) Telegram.]

The Republican party has selected a standard bearer whose utterances from day to day justify the people who chose him. Not only does he bring before the country the shortcomings of the Administration that owes its existence to a divided Republicanism, but his criticism is everywhere constructive.

He tells what must be done and will be done by the party he represents to prevent wastefulness and extravagance in the governmental expenditures and to put a stop to the vacillating policy that has caused other nations to believe that the United States has no intention of backing up its demands made in the interests of justice and humanity.

Most vulnerable of all points in the Democratic armor is its foreign policy. Primarily this is because of the spoils system by which men trained in the consular and diplomatic service through long years, have been displaced to make room for politicians and friends of politicians, whose sole claim to preferment was their services to the Democratic party.

"If I am elected president of the United States," said Mr. Hughes last night, "I propose that every man I put in charge of an important department shall be a man eminently fit to discharge the duties of that department."

The denuding of the diplomatic service of men of experience in order to supply political jobs, as has been done by Mr. Wilson, or with his consent, Mr. Hughes denounces as "a capital offense—trading in the good name of the United States and damaging its honor." "Nobody," he adds, "has a right to pay political debts with the good name and honor of the United States."

Which is clear proof that Mr. Hughes has not been unmindful of the high principles of government which must be maintained in order that this republic shall maintain its place as a shining example to all nations.

Political Jottings

The Houston Post reasons that it was easier for its own beloved Democracy to indorse the president's Mexican policy than to define it.

While he was about it Senator James Hamilton Lewis also might have explained that the Rome that was "too proud to fight" died a rather disastrous death.

"In all fairness," asks the Boston Transcript, "should not the expense of chasing Carranza be borne by the Democratic campaign committee?"

Democrats really haven't any objection to big appropriations for army and navy and internal improvements. They expect the Republicans to rustle the revenue to foot the bills for the next four years.

Hughes says he would like six months to investigate the administration, but the administration figures he's doing very well as it is.

Yes, and the same policies that have filled Judge Hughes and others with "a deep sense of shame" have sent many other Americans to their graves.

The president has changed his mind about sending more troops to the border, thus running true to form.

When Tom Taggart talks economy to them it is time the Democrats stopped their extravagance.

The Hughes smile is beginning to attract favorable attention.

President Entertains Five Progressives. — Headline. Others he simply amuses.

Democratic papers chide Hughes because he says he is "100 per cent a candidate." The Wilson papers naturally prefer a fifty-fifty candidate.

The president says he has no interest in any political party "except as an instrument of achievement." If that's it then how did he happen to select such a poor instrument as the Democratic party?

Carranza isn't a candidate for president of the United States, but he did more for American preparedness in three weeks than Woodrow Wilson did in three years.

Another thing you never hear of since the Democrats reduced the cost of living is the "baker's dozen."

Mr. Hughes is criticised for his frequent use of the word "now." Evidently his immediateness is worrying the watchful waiters, who put things off until tomorrow.

Families living in the rural districts where mail service has been curtailed will be interested in knowing that Postmaster General Burleson has sent Secretary McAdoo a check for $5,200,000, representing surplus postal revenues.

Mr. Gardner should not quote what Mr. Wilson said while president of Princeton. His utterances are outlawed by himself in seven days.

That man Hughes is causing the Democratic newspapers an endless amount of worry. Apparently they will never be satisfied until he turns the management of his campaign over to them.

Mr. Hughes' speeches are giving poor satisfaction to the Democratic press, which proves they are very good speeches indeed.

Secretary Baker is developing an agility in changing his mind that must endear him to his discoverer.

Mr. Wilson's administration must confess itself incompetent in one respect or the other. It either has appropriated for an unneeded navy or it has neglected a needed navy. It can select its fault to suit itself. In one respect or the other it must be wrong.

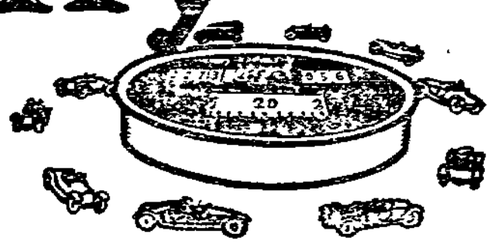
"I believe in efficiency in politics just as much as in anything else," says Mr. Hughes. Efficiency is an excellent watchword, and its use in the campaign is merely a forerunner of its use in the White House when he gets there.

First they said that Hughes was an iceberg; now they are saying that he is a mud slinger. He cannot possibly be both and, as a matter of fact, is neither. The Democrats must feel in a mighty bad way when they cry out "mud and treason."

WILSON ADMITS HE PRECIPITATED WAR

When Mr. Wilson forgets himself he admits that we have been at war. For example, on May 11, 1914, in an address over the dead marines at the navy yard in Brooklyn he said that the marines had been engaged in "a war of service." A war of service to whom or to what? Certainly not to the United States, nor to Mexico, nor to humanity at large. Was it to Mr. Wilson?—From the Speech of Colonel Theodore Roosevelt, Delivered at Lewiston, Me., in Behalf of Charles E. Hughes.

Why



Less mileage

No, Sir; mileage is not altogether a question of gas. Oil's gotta lot to do with it, you bet. Do you know that, in actual tests, cars have been known to yield as much as five additional miles per gallon of gas when the right lubricant was used? 'Sfact.

You oughta be getting that extra mileage, especially since it doesn't cost extra. There's one safe, sure way of taking figures off your gas and oil bill and putting them on the speedometer where they belong.

Use the combination—Atlantic Gas for fuel; Atlantic Motor Oils for lubrication. You can't beat that team anywhere.

Atlantic Polarine is THE oil for eight out of ten cars. The alternative is one of the other three principal oils—Atlantic "Light," Atlantic "Medium" or Atlantic "Heavy."

The reputation of the oldest and largest lubricant manufacturers in the world stands back of these four oils. Start using Atlantic Motor Oils today and note the difference in mileage.

Read up on this subject. We have published a handsome and comprehensive book about lubrication. It is free. Ask your garage for it. If they cannot supply you drop us a postal and the book will be sent you without charge.

A Distinctive Reason

What is the chief reason for the superiority of Royal Baking Powder?

There are several good reasons, but there is one which distinguishes Royal from other baking powders.

This reason, which every woman should know, is that Royal Baking Powder is made from cream of tartar, which comes from grapes. This means a healthful fruit origin. It means natural food as distinguished from mineral-substitutes used in other baking powders.

There is no alum nor phosphate in Royal Baking Powder.

THE MEDICINE OF MERIT

The great sale of Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound all over this land is the result of genuine merit. The reason is that this good old fashioned root and herb medicine actually helps those suffering from the ailments peculiar to women. If it did not, would not the women of America have found it out in forty years, so that few of them would buy?

Pioneers of Hawaii.

The early history of the Hawaiian Islands is entirely legendary and traditionary. The earliest inhabitants, according to estimate, must have come hither about 500 A. D. They voyaged northward in their canoes from the island of Savaii, in the Samoan group, which seems to have been the chief center of dispersion of the Polynesian race, to which the Hawaiians belong. There is a great similarity in the speech of all Polynesians. To have voyaged this distance of over 2,000 miles to their newly adopted home through the unknown, uncharted and sometimes tempestuous seas in their small, open and exposed craft and subsequently to have gone back and forth, as their traditions indicate them to have done, and, finally, to have traveled from island to island in the Hawaiian group with no compass but the stars overhead, certainly stamps them as having been careful and resourceful navigators of no mean ability.—Exchange.

"Free and Equal."

The author of the phrase "All men are born free and equal" was John Lowell, a Massachusetts jurist and statesman, who was born in Newburyport, Mass., in 1743.

John Lowell was the first descendant of Percival Lowell, the English founder of the famous New England family, to gain wide fame. He was the son of the first minister of Newburyport and after studying law settled in Boston. He was elected to the convention which framed the constitution of Massachusetts in 1780 and was a member of the committee which formulated that document. He insisted upon the insertion in the bill of rights of the phrase "All men are born free and equal" for the purpose, as he avowed at the time, of abolishing slavery in Massachusetts. It was largely through his efforts that Massachusetts put an end to negro slavery in 1783.—St. Louis Post-Dispatch.

The Roll Call of Friends.

Have you ever sat alone in the evening looking over the pictures and the books associated with the friends of yore? In the busy whirl of life is there not a joy in calling the roll of old friends and wondering where this one and that one may be? Then comes that moment of retrospective and introspective eulogy to absent friends, and wells of gratitude are opened as we think how greatly various friends have influenced our pathway on life's journey; how this one or that one may have unconsciously determined the crisis of a career.

We become mellowed when we think of those passed beyond. The memory of them comes to us gently and softly as the sparkle of the eye and the outlines of the individuality are recalled from the haze of past years.—National Magazine.

The Library of the Bible.

The Bible is not a book, but a library—perhaps I should rather say a literature. It is composed of sixty-six different books, written by between forty and fifty different authors—written centuries apart, in different languages, to different peoples, for different purposes, in different literary forms. It is the selected literature of fifteen centuries. It includes law, history, poetry, fiction, biography and philosophy. It is to be read as a literature, judged as a literature. One may therefore reject a book from this collection of literature and yet believe in the literature. It is not like a painting which either is or is not the work of one master. It is a gallery of paintings, in which some works may be originals and others copies.—Lyman Abbott.

Her Appeal.

"Who is that?" he asked nervously as he heard a footstep in the hall.

"Only papa," she whispered.

He moved about uneasily.

"Don't be afraid," she murmured. "You can surely trust papa."

"I don't know," he said doubtfully.

"Oh, Arthur," she cried, throwing her arms about his neck appealingly, "you certainly ought to! Nobody else in town will."

Word From Br'er Williams.

Did you ever stop ter think dat if all de time lost in growlin' at de world God made wuz spent in hittin' hard licks ter make things better how much like yo' dream o' heaven de same old world would be?—Atlanta Constitution.
